CATARRH OF THE STOMACH.

Rabbi David Klein, 231 E. Main street, Columbus, O., writes the following to Dr. Hartman in regard to Peruna: "It affords me great pleasure to testify to the curative merits of your medicine.
Peruna is a well-tryed and widely used remedy. Especially as a specific for catarrh of the stomach it cannot be exceeded. Peruna will do all that is claimed for it."

People afflicted with catarrh of the stomach complain of flatulence, ill-tiredness, their blood becomes thin, nervous system deranged, food seems to do them no good, continuous and increasing weakness. The unfortunate

Mr. Alex. Carter of Van Buren, Carter Co., Mo., says: "I had been troubled with dyspepsia and indigestion since 1870. The best physicians in the country could do no good.
I visited the Mullanphy hospital in St. Louis and received no benefit. The attending physician told me I had narrowing of the outlet of the stomach, and the only remedy was to have it cut out, which I refused to have done. I then visited West Haven, Ind.; Las Vegas Hot Springs, New Mexico; Sweet Springs, Mo., and Monticello, Col. I also took a great many different kinds of medicine recommended for dyspepsia, but found no relief. Last February I read a testimonial for Peruna in the Central Baptist that suited my case and I determined at once to try it. I have taken two bottles of Peruna and four of Man-a-lin, and I feel like a new man.
None of my friends believed I would get well. I would not take any money for the good your remedies have done me." In catarrh of the stomach, as well as in catarrh of any other part of the body, Peruna is the remedy. As has often been said, if Peruna will cure catarrh of one part, it will cure catarrh of any other part of the body.

CANAL BILL PASSED.

Big Majority for Nicaragua Project in the House.

Despite the Lobby, Only Thirty-five Voted Against It.

Action by the Senate is Not Expected This Session.

By the largest majority on any important measure this session—225 to 35—the Nicaragua Canal bill passed the House on Wednesday, May 2. A motion to recommit the bill with the purpose that it be held back until December, when the canal commission shall have reported, was lost, receiving 52 yeas to 171 nays. The support was not strong enough to force a roll call. The amendment striking out fortifications and substituting authority to protect was carried, most of the Democrats voting in the negative, for campaign purposes, to emphasize their opposition to the Hay-Pauncefote treaty.

Much excitement reigned throughout the day, and several times bitter words were used. The excitement reached its climax in a highly dramatic scene between Mr. Hepburn and Mr. Cannon, when the former used the words "lie" and "har," as he denounced the distinguished chairman of the appropriations committee for attempting "to dishonor him."

The House was in riotous confusion during the quarrel. Members crowded the aisles and the situation at one time was so threatening that Mr.
Wheeler, (Dem.) of Kentucky, sought to pour oil on the waters by raising a point of order. But he was not upheld, and the twoirate men's carried their war to the very height. There was a show of peace at the close of the incident, but the feeling between the two men ran so high that the mutual relations with which such incidents generally end were but the cloaks for the keenest and most cutting sarcasm.

ADMINISTRATION IS PLEASED.
The result is extremely gratifying to the administration. It makes almost certain the complete enactment of the measure at the short session.

No legislation of this Congress has encountered the virulence of opposition which the Nicaragua bill has.
Reference is not intended so much to the open antagonism on the floor of the House as to the continuous effort under cover to discredit and cripple the measure. An aggressive lobby has been present, resorting to every expedient to prevent action. The Panama Canal scheme has been well represented. Holders of something like $20,000,000 in bonds, face value, are clinging to the hope that in some way the Nicaragua route may be abandoned and that these Panama securities may in time be worth something. Certain transcontinental railroad interests in the extreme northwest have been arrayed against the bill. The strange argument that the Isthmian canal will let Pacific coast wheat into European markets and cut the price of Mississippi valley wheat a bushel has been made much of.
During the debate in the House it has been repeatedly apparent that Representatives who on roll call supported the measure were secretly doing all they could to make it ineffective.
Amendments which looked well on the face were in several instances offered for no other purpose than to cause postponement.

Not at any time during this session of Congress has the lobby been so bold and so active. A year ago the opposition was successful in defeating action on the ground that more information was desirable. The same men who fought the canal then have been in the front of the present opposition, demanding that the commission provided for over a year ago shall be

STILL ANOTHER SCENE.
But soon after another scene oc-

Mr. Mann, of Illinois, a member of the interstate commerce committee, said he favored a canal built, owned and fortified by the United States.
Mr. Underwood, of Alabama, said he favored the building of the canal.
No gentleman could be found on the floor who would come out openly, he said, and declare his opposition to the
opposition, strenuous and dangerous, but concealed and indirect.

The amendment was then adopted.
PARKER AMENDMENT.
Mr. Parker, of New Jersey, offered an amendment to strike out that portion of the bill limiting the President's selection to the Nicaragua route.

This amendment called for a protest from Mr. Hepburn, who declared that it was intended to revive interest in the Panama route, which had caused one of the "foulest scandals" in the history of the world. He charged that the emissaries of this discredited corporation were seeking to unload the enterprise on the American people.
Much as he trusted the President he would not trust any chief executive with unlimited means at his disposal to make the choice of routes of the canal.

Mr. Burton, of Ohio, declared emphatically that he was not in favor of the Panama route, but plain business sense demanded a proper investigation and examination of both routes.

The Parker amendment was defeated, 31 to 87.

Mr. McCulloch, of Arkansas, offered an amendment to insert the words
"fortify, garrison," between the words
"construct" and "and defend." He said he desired that the language of the bill should be unequivocal and should make plain the purpose of Congress to abrogate the Clayton-Bulwer treaty.

Mr. Shafter, of Colorado, heartily supported the amendment. We should have a fortified canal or no canal, he said.

Mr. Williams, of Mississippi, said he should like to see the word "fortify" in the bill, but the main thing was to construct the canal and wipe out 10,000 miles of ocean voyage and freight charges in proportion. War would abrogate all treaties, and the American Government, in the event of war, would not hesitate to fortify and defend the canal.

A dramatic and sensational scene occurred between Mr. Cannon, chairman of the appropriations committee, and Mr. Hepburn, in charge of the Nicaragua Canal bill. Mr. Cannon resented some remarks made last night given six months more to report Members claiming to be friends of the canal have joined in the effort to secure delay.

OUTLOOK IN THE SENATE.
It has been very well understood throughout the debate in the House that passage by one branch of Congress was all that could be expected at this session. Nothing, therefore, could be lost by the affirmative action of the House at this time. On the contrary, there would be a distinct gain if the bill reached the Senate before the recess.

If nothing had been done at this session the enemies of the bill would have been tolerably sure of preventing enactment at the short session.
But with the bill through the House it was taken up by the Senate in December and passed with such amendments as the report of the commission may indicate to be advisable.
Concurrence by the House in these amendments will be easy.

In this light it is apparent that, though the Senate does not act at the present session, an important advantage has been gained by the passage through the House. The opponents of the bill understand what ground they are losing in not preventing the approval by the House. This will account for the vigor, not to say the intensity, of the fight against the passage. The battle that is being fought now is not prompted by the expectation that the bill is going through Congress this session, but by the knowledge that the advantage gained will materially help passage in the short session.

STORMY DEBATE ON THE BILL.
The debate on the Nicaragua Canal bill was the stormiest of this session of Congress. All attempts to retain in the bill the language of the original bill for the finishing of the canal and to strengthen the language on that line were halted, and the victory of Mr. Hepburn and the committee was complete. Mr. Cannon, chairman of the appropriations committee, and Mr. Burton, of Ohio, chairman of the river and harbors committee, made a game fight to stall off action at this session, but their appeals were in vain and the members rode rough shod over all their arguments.

When the House met, on motion of Mr. Hepburn, in charge of the bill, general debate was closed and the bill was read for amendment under the five-minute rule.

Mr. Hepburn offered the committee amendment to substitute the word "protect" for "defend" in the first section.

Mr. Mann, of Illinois, a member of
and fortified by the United States.
Mr. Underwood, of Alabama, said
he favored the building of the canal.
but concealed and indirect.

The amendment was then adopted.
PARKER AMENDMENT.
Mr. Parker, of New Jersey, offered
selection to the Nicaragua route.

it was intended to revive interest in

the enterprise on the American people.
canal.

Mr. Burton, of Ohio, declared em-
sense demanded a proper investigation and examination of both routes.

ed, 31 to 87.

Mr. McCulloch, of Arkansas, offered
an amendment to insert the words
"construct" and "and defend." He

Mr. Shafter, of Colorado, heartily
said.

and defend the canal.

A dramatic and sensational scene
occurred between Mr. Cannon, chairman of the appropriations committee,

by Mr. Hepburn impugning his (Cannon's) sincerity. Mr. Cannon spoke under excitement, saying he had just read Mr. Hepburn's attack upon him.
As he proceeded he recalled an intelligence that had come to him, of which he had spoken yesterday, that those who were promoting this bill were doing so to delay the canal. Yet, he said, he had acquitted Mr. Hepburn of any such intention. To-day he frankly stated that Mr. Hepburn's name had been connected with the rumor.

"Who was the author of the rumor?" asked Mr. Hepburn, jumping to his feet.

"A newspaper man," replied Mr.
Cannon. "I do not know his name."

Continuing, and speaking with great deliberation, Mr. Cannon said he would have been satisfied with the acquittal he gave Mr. Hepburn yesterday had not his "doubts been aroused."

"My observation," said he, "is that when a man is willing to challenge the sincerity of another it is because he is turning the glass inward upon himself. I do not rise to justify my own reputation for sincerity. Upon my record of twenty-five years in public life I will stand or fall."

HEPBURN'S STRONG LANGUAGE.
The excitement grew as Mr. Cannon proceeded. Mr. Hepburn's face was white, and his words came in a perfect torrent when he replied. He thought it entirely possible, he said, that some one whose name could not be recalled, was lying about the capital in the interest of their pet projects.
Interests in Mr. Cannon's own city of Chicago, he declared, were trying to sell things to the government, and he thought it altogether likely the Panama company might try to defeat this bill.

"I know no man connected with the Panama company," cried Mr.
Cannon, fiercely. "Can the gentleman say as much?"

"Yes; except as they have appeared before my committee," replied Mr.
Hepburn, who, continuing, appealed to the record for confirmation of what he had said about Mr. Cannon. Then, pausing for a moment, and looking squarely at Mr. Cannon, he proceeded.

"I say this to him: If he leathers the rumor that I have any other purpose to serve I say he has lied."

THE HOUSE IN AN UPROAR.
Quick as a flash Mr. Cannon asked Mr. Hepburn to repeat his statement.
By this time the House was in a wild state of excitement and confusion, and Mr. Wheeler, of Kentucky, attempted to call the gentleman to order, but the chair said he had heard nothing unpardonable, and Mr.
Hepburn proceeded:

"I say, if the gentleman attempted to give currency to the statement he did me a gross injustice by making such an underhanded imputation."

Mr. Cannon, with flushed face, declared that Mr. Hepburn was adopting the tactics of the cuttlefish. "He seeks to muddy the waters and swim away."

"I am not seeking to muddy the waters," retorted Mr. Hepburn, passionately. "I am responsible for what I said to the gentleman here and elsewhere. The gentleman tried to dishonor me, and I resent it."

Mr. Cannon protested that he had done nothing of the kind; that he had treated the gentleman from Iowa with great respect, and had himself been assailed without provocation. He would dismiss the whole subject, believing Mr. Hepburn's violent remarks were due to his temper and not his judgment. Here the matter rested.

But soon after another scene oc-

Mr. Mann, of Illinois, a member of
and fortified by the United States.
Mr. Underwood, of Alabama, said
he favored the building of the canal.
but concealed and indirect.

The amendment was then adopted.
PARKER AMENDMENT.
Mr. Parker, of New Jersey, offered
selection to the Nicaragua route.

the enterprise on the American people.
canal.

Mr. Burton, of Ohio, declared em-
sense demanded a proper investigation and examination of both routes.

ed, 31 to 87.

Mr. McCulloch, of Arkansas, offered
an amendment to insert the words
"construct" and "and defend." He
Bulwer treaty.
